Pot & Garden Plants

This week, many of us are asking two important questions....

Firstly, IS IT COMING HOME??!!

Secondly, IS SUMMER 2024 DONE AND DUSTED??!!

Despite the unruly weather, buyers fill the halls this week, dressed in their finest winter attire! Still smiling, yet finally losing the will with the British weather.

Tom has settled into auctioneering the cut flowers and plants with buyers bidding confidently. A superb selection of scintillating Salvias attract the buyers. Fanatics opt for Foxgloves for their colour and vertical accents, along with the popular arrival of lilies. As always, buyers take their pick of the many pristinely presented Perennials.

Cut Flowers

Red Roses, White Stocks and Blue Statice all draw the plaudits, as flower sellers try their best to show the Union Jack colours in some shape or form to get behind the nations football team. This said, mixed Statice and Helichrysum bunches alongside a supply of pre-made bouquets also sell well, as florists hope for a good trading weekend.

Description	Per:	Average		Best

Stocks	Bunch	£0.80	-	£1.00

Fruit & Vegetables

Despite the variable weather, Growers show their stiff upper lip and try their best to continue to harvest their produce and bring it into the auction. After weeks of limited supplies of Cauliflower, with some samples making up to £2 a head, a complete turnaround sees a box of six cauliflowers making £2 a box.

A superb selection of Exotic Fruit, like Cherries, Tomatoes and UFO Peaches meet a good demand.
