Plants and Seasonal Sundries

Our dear friends at the Meteorological office fail to scare off buyers this week, with a full turn out on Wednesday. Despite the threat of a weekend deluge, our buyers take a long-sighted view and fill their boots with our wonderful array of botanical beauties. Sales of miniature Patio Cyclamen pick up for all premier quality entries, whilst larger, indoor entries stutter. The first Wreaths of the season sell well, even though we are six weeks away from the big day. Potted Blue Spruce entries are given a warm welcome this week. Any Pansies bearing colour provide healthy price returns. Bellis sales are flaccid.

Cut Flowers

Flower sales power on, with a healthy attendance of avid bidders filling our hall throughout the week. Local Spray Chrysanthemums have our buyers fawning over them as they battle to secure their favoured lots. Lilies see demand grow, with "Rose Lily" entries in particular attracting a host of bids. The florists in attendance swoon with delight as a lovely lick of Eucalyptus goes under the hammer.

Fruit & Vegetables

As the weather remains unusually warm, customers continue to comment on the downturn in trade due to the mild weather. This has not deterred our vendors from filling the auction hall with a variety of fantastic fresh produce. Attendances throughout the week are high causing competition from all to get what they need for the busy days ahead. This week sees the introduction of Sprout stalks; these are warmly welcomed with all clearing comfortably in each sale. Calabrese takes a tumble in the price with Portuguese imports on the horizon. Demand for Potatoes increases with prices rising slightly on previous weeks, whilst brassica remains at a consistent price in line with recent trade. As we come to the end of English bunched Carrots, prices still remain at a decent level.
