Market Report

FOR WEEK ENDING: 17/7/26

Prices Shown - Average to Top Quality

Cut Flowers

Sunglasses are an essential accessory in our auction hall this week, with a myriad of dazzling colours being brought in from our wonderful growers. Statice/Helichrysum bouquets are highly coveted with all entries clearing daily. Grasses galore go under the hammer with “Green Jewel” and “Velvet Amaranthus” joining the party. Sunflower price returns reflect the quality on display. A sensational smattering of Spray Carnations attracts a host of bids.

Plants and Seasonal Sundries

With the temperatures in our auction halls dropping, combining with a fresh moderate breeze, conditions are conducive for plant sales. The first bunched Leeks of the season see a healthy interest for the old quaint heritage presentation. Olives small, Olives tall.... buyers clamour for all of our new offerings. With many perennials presenting themselves in full finery, sales continue to trundle along nicely. Salvias remain “de rigueur”, backed up nicely by ravishing red Crocosmias. Large “show style” Agapanthus cause a storm midweek, with smitten buyers driving themselves into bidding frenzies

Fruit & Vegetables

As the weather cools, buyers are back eager again to fill their vehicles for the weekend ahead. The recent heatwave has left a trail of destruction as shortages of Brassica are reported, resulting in prices skyrocketing in the away markets. These shortages reflected in stock levels entered for sale. This week sees a total of 75 boxes of Cauliflower available for sale all week. With bunch Carrot starting to finish, customers have had no choice but to pay higher prices on previous weeks to grab what they need. Marrows and Courgettes are more readily available resulting in prices falling from the recent levels achieved. Fruits and Salad lines continue to sell well whilst clearing throughout the week. New Potatoes start to level on prices with an average of 13p per lbs this week.
